

Necole Hines

Necole Hines is a cannabis chef, educator & advocate who loves to add cannabis to her life.

Grateful for the plant and its benefits, Necole recently founded Faded Living (a cannabis education & events company) to normalize adult cannabis use & help break down the stereotypes through cooking workshops, podcasts, apparel, & private canna-chef services.

She is also a founding member of Louder Together Cannabis Advocacy Society, a not-for-profit organization dedicated to amplifying & supporting the voices of BIPOC in the cannabis industry.

Recently, she joined the Strategic Advisory Council for the Afro Cannada Budsistas, a peer support group for Black women who consume & share their cannabis experiences.

Her passion for the cannabis plant allows her to create a 420 lifestyle that brings balance, wellness, enlightenment and change.

